Fort Meade Installation Commander
Colonel Kenneth O. McCreedy

Colonel Kenneth O. McCreedy is a 1980 Distinguished Military Graduate of the University of California, Berkeley. Commissioned as a military intelligence officer, he first served at Fort Riley, Kan., as the S2 and Scout Platoon Leader of 3-37 Armor and Assistant S-2 of the 2d Brigade, 1st Infantry Division. After completing the Post-Graduate Intelligence Program at the Defense Intelligence College and Spanish instruction at the Defense Language Institute in Monterey, Calif., Col. McCreedy was assigned to the U.S. Southern Command in Panama as a country analyst in the J2. Following Operation JUST CAUSE, he was assigned to Fort Hood, Texas, where he was a G2 Operations Officer in Third Corps, commanded a CI/IPW Company in the 163d Military Intelligence Battalion, and served as the S3 Plans Officer for the 504th Military Intelligence Brigade.

After schooling at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., McCreedy served in Germany as the V Corps G2 Plans Officer, S3 of the 302d Military Intelligence Battalion, and S3 of the 205th Military Intelligence Brigade. He then served as a member of the Commander's Initiatives Group for CGUSAREUR/ COMSFOR with duty in Sarajevo, Bosnia-Herzegovina. Returning from Europe in 1999, he served as a Director, National Security Agency Fellow at Fort Meade, Md., prior to his assignment to Fort Gordon, Ga., as commander of the 201st Military Intelligence Battalion (Signals Intelligence). He next was appointed Professor of Military Science at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, Va. After attending the Army War College, Col. McCreedy worked for the past year in the Force Transformation Office in the Office of the Secretary of Defense.

Among his awards and decorations, Col. McCreedy has earned the Defense Meritorious Service Medal, Meritorious Service Medal, Joint Service Commendation Medal, Army Commendation Medal, Army Achievement Medal, National Defense Service Medal, and the NATO Medal.

Col. McCreedy holds a bachelor's degree in history from Washington and Lee University, a master's and doctorate in history from the University of California, Berkeley, a MMAS from the U.S. Army Command and Staff College, and a MSS from the Army War College. He is a graduate of both the Army's School of Advanced Military Studies and the Advanced Strategic Art Program.